In Ann Arbor Anti-War Demonstration:

Three Arrested For Fistfight

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A fistfight resulted in three arrests Friday as more than 100 demonstrators gathered for the conflict in Viet Nam.

One of the three arrested on disorderly fighting charges was the brother of an American serviceman killed in Viet Nam last Jan. 2.

He and a companion were accused of jumping from a car and tearing into demonstrators marching on headquarters of the Ann Arbor draft board. One demonstrator also was booked.

A line of 103 marchers which started out from the University of Michigan campus was joined by a few others en route.

Earl Flores McIntire, 18, and Craig Myle Holden, 19, both of Ann Arbor, were accused of attacking demonstrators. McIntire's brother, Walter E. Jr., was killed in action in Viet Nam.

Dean William Engel, 22, also of Ann Arbor, was the demonstrator booked with them for fighting. All were released on bond.

Demonstrators picketed outside the draft board, but were orderly. Small groups entered the board's offices to present petitions protesting U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

They were met by Lt. Col. Robert J. Baird, assistant operations officer for State Selective Service headquarters, who told petitioners:

"Put your selective service number on your petition. This will be part of your selective service file and it will be turned over to the state director."

Milton E. Taub, 19, of Royal Oak, burned a draft card in what he termed a symbolic act. Called on by police, Taub produced his currently valid card, explaining he burned last year's.

Kansas Press Hears Romney

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Top state Republicans will get a chance to look Michigan Gov. George Romney over at first hand tonight and decide whether they would like him as a Presidential nominee.

Romney will meet Gov. William H. Avery, spend about an hour with Alf Landon, former governor and the 1936 Republican presidential nominee; and then meet — probably behind closed doors — with members of the State GOP Executive Committee.

The political meetings were lined up at Romney's request in connection with his speech tonight to the Kansas Press Association at Kansas City, Kan.

On Wednesday, Landon named Romney as one of his two choices for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1968. The other was Landon's friend, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

Landon said Romney has done an outstanding job in Michigan and "it's obvious that as a good governor of a big state, when he is reelected next November he will be a potent factor in the next convention."

Expert Says:

Flying Saucers Were Swamp Gas

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — An expert's opinion that some of Michigan's unidentified flying objects — UFO — probably were swamp gases may have convinced the Air Force but not the people who saw them.

"I'm no professor, and I'm not as educated as him, but I think he's all wrong," Mrs. Frank Mannor said of Dr. J. Allen Hynek.

Hynek, a Northwestern University astrophysicist and scientific consultant for the Air Force, told a news conference Friday that sightings made on two specific days probably had stemmed from swamp gasses.

He said his study had been confined to sightings made near Dexter March 20 by the Mannor family and by officers and Hilldale by 87 college coeds and the county Civil Defense director.

Dexter, a small community, is about 50 miles southwest of Detroit. Hilldale is about 100 miles west.

Moon And Venus — Hynek said a photograph taken by a sheriff's deputy March 16 near Milan, several miles south of Dexter, showed the rising crescent moon and the planet Venus. The deputy said the two streaks of brilliant light on the photograph, identified by Hynek as the moon and planet, had been captured on film by his camera in a time exposure as he observed what he considered to be unidentified flying objects.

Numerous UFO sightings have been reported in Michigan, especially the southern lower portion, in recent weeks, many of them by law officers. Hynek said he had not investigated these because large enough groups had not witnessed them.

He said both the sightings he did investigate were in swampy areas — "most unlikely place for a visit from outer space" — and added the UFOs probably had resulted from spring thaws releasing trapped gases resulting from decomposing organic materials.

He added that in the Hilldale case the sighting might have been assisted by youths playing pranks with flares. The remains of several flares were found near the college shortly after the sightings.

"There were no flares involved in this," said William Van Horn, Hillsdale County Civil Defense director.

Watchers Disagree — He and the Hilldale College coeds reported watching a white and red object — about 20 feet across — from dormitory wings for nearly three hours.

"I think I will disprove him (Hynek) in a few weeks," Van Horn said. "I also didn't care for the methods of investigation. I know no flares were involved."

Milton M. Ferguson, the college's director of public affairs, did not see the UFO but said he had been told of it by Dean of Women Kelly Hearn and the coeds.

"What they saw had no resemblance to rockets or flares," he said. "I don't know what it was, nor do the people who saw it, but this is trying to explain it away arbitrarily. The Air Force is going to get into trouble going on in this way. It seems a whitewash.

At Dexter, Mrs. Mannor said, "I saw it (the UFO) with my own eyes. And my son and husband wouldn't lie. They saw it too. I think there's something going on the people don't know about. I'm scared. I want to pack up and move."

Said her husband: "There's nothing wrong with my eyes, and my son (Robert, 19) has 20-20 vision. We both can't be wrong."

Dexter Police Chief Robert Taylor, who says he also saw the object, said, "I have no idea what it was, but I don't think it was swamp gas."

Moscow's New Five-Year Plan More Realistic

MOSCOW (AP) — The national congress of the Soviet Communist party, opening Tuesday, will give orders for a five-year economic plan that will bury former Premier Khrushchev's boasts of catching up with the U.S. economy by 1970.

This already has been assured by the published directives for the 1966-70 plan that controls production on every Soviet factory and farm. The directives by the party will determine the Soviet government's final plan.

Western economic specialists agree that the new plan, which drops Khrushchev's ambitious goals, is a more sober, realistic blueprint for Soviet economic growth.

Some, however, believe the new plan is still overly optimistic.

The plan is the major agenda item of the 23rd congress of the Soviet Communist party. Of all issues discussed at the meeting of 5,000 Soviet party delegates, plus scores of foreign Communists, the plan may prove to have the greatest significance.

The plan will go a long way toward determining the average Soviet citizen's wages and the clothes, food and other goods he can buy.

The plan will chart the domestic economic strength which will form the basis for the Kremlin's military planning, foreign trade and aid, the space program, and political competition with Red China and the West.

Greet Tanker As Shipping Opens

Early and easy describes the start of the 1966 navigation season at Escanaba today.

Slicing through occasional fields of 10 to 12-inch ice, the tanker Amoco Wisconsin entered Little Bay de Noc and the Escanaba harbor without difficulty this morning, and docked at the Standard Oil Co. marine terminal at 9:15.

Capt. John Williamson, skipper of the 390-foot tanker, was greeted by a Chamber of Commerce delegation and presented with gifts. The ceremony is a traditional rite sponsored by the Chamber, honoring the first boat of the season.

The Amoco Wisconsin, one of the fleet of the American Oil Co., brought a cargo of fuel from Whiting, Ind., to the Standard Oil Co. here.

Light Operating — There was no fuel shortage here after the mild winter and so there was no need to start the season early — but the harbors are open and it's convenient to get the cargoes moving, said Robert Haack, manager of Standard's marine terminal at Escanaba. The tanker has a capacity of 50,000 barrels of fuel.

The Coast Guard cutter Mesquite out of Sturgeon Bay moved up the bay without difficulty and docked at Escanaba at 7:30 a.m. to take on board the Minneapolis Shoal light-house crew. At 8 a.m. they were off to the shoal light 13 miles south of Escanaba.

Daniel Ferguson, officer in charge of the light, and his men will put the light in operation for the season starting today. The Mesquite will continue to work in the Green Bay area as shipping gets under way.

The S. T. Crapo of the Huron Portland Cement Co. is scheduled to arrive in Green Bay on Monday. Her cargo is from Alpena.

Third In Tonnage — Last year the first boat at Escanaba was an ore carrier, the E. T. Weir, which arrived at the Chicago & North Western dock on April 8.

This year the first ore boat will be in earlier — about April 1 — but there's no rush for iron ore at the smelters. The North Western will complete its repairs of the ore dock, a major project this winter, before it begins loading.

Total tonnage at the Escanaba-Little Bay de Noc harbor annually places the port in third place on Lake Michigan, exceeded only by Indiana Harbor and Gary in the Chicago area. Milwaukee is under Escanaba by a couple million tons and ranks fourth.

Before the 1966 season ends, tonnage on Little Bay de Noc will exceed 8,000,000 of which about 6,000,000 tons will be in iron ore shipped by the North Western.

The paratroopers took some casualties but in the course of clearing valuable rice-bearing areas claimed 274 Viet Cong killed, 29 captured and 167 weapons seized, including 16 heavy guns which required crews to handle such as mortars and recoilless rifles.

The U.S. Marines also terminated Operation Texas to the north between Chu Lai and Quang Ngai with an announced record of 404 Viet Cong killed, 39 captured and 21 weapons seized.

U.S. officers insisted they had enough evidence to support a belief that a Viet Cong regiment was smashed, two other battalions were hurt badly and upwards of 800 of the enemy were killed or wounded and carried away in the four-day fight.

An American advisory officer from Quang Duc Province in the north came to Saigon to tell newsmen how heroic Vietnamese and Montagnard tribesmen were in the second defense of the Bu Prang outpost.

Killed In Action — WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Sgt. Thomas V. Martinez, the husband of Mrs. Rachel Martinez of Bay City, has been killed in action in Viet Nam, the Defense Department said Friday.

Milk Production Is Down Again — EAST LANSING (AP) — For the second straight month, Michigan milk production in February was 7 per cent below 1965 figures — pushing milk prices up, a Michigan State University economist reports.

John Ferris said a shortage of dairy farm labor, feed shortages because of last summer's drought, high prices for dairy cows for beef and good job opportunities in industry have cut the milk supply.

The Michigan Milk Producers' Association has announced a 30-cent per hundredweight price increase, from $5.10 to $5.40, effective April 1.

Marines Move To Clear Cong Out Of Delta — SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. forces in Viet Nam, closing out operations which have spent their force, demonstrated new mobility today with a thrust designed to protect the capital of Saigon itself.

U.S. Marines, normally based far to the north, leaped into the coast 30 miles southeast of Saigon in an area normally left to the South Vietnamese government troops.

They came ashore assigned to preserving shipping lanes into Saigon which have been attacked by the Viet Cong, and also had the double-barreled task of clearing out marshland long in the hands of the insurgents.

The assault by more than 1,200 Marines with covering naval fire encountered no resistance. It was the furthest south U.S. forces have operated as units and touched delicately on the delta area which the Saigon government insists on counting its own.

The leathernecks moved in on a beach seven miles long and a mile deep on a peninsula at the mouth of the Saigon River. This peninsula is west, across Ganh Rai Bay, from Vung Tau, a resort town and military base 40 miles southeast of Saigon.

The amphibious landing was only a mile or two outside the IV Corps, commanded by the Vietnamese general staff which has only American advisers, but has access to U.S. air power and artillery.

While the Marines were jumping into new adventures, the 101st Airborne Division closed out Operation Harrison after a month-long search and destroy sweep northwest to Tuy Hoa on the South China seacoast.

League Sponsors Quiz Session:

Voters To Meet Candidates Monday

Voting citizens of Escanaba who would like to meet and learn more about the candidates for the City Council are invited to a meeting of the League of Women Voters to be held at 8 p. m. Monday, March 28, in the Chamber of Commerce building.

Eight of the nine candidates for Council whose names will be on the ballot in the election to be held Monday, April 4, will be present.

The League sponsors candidates' meetings as a part of its program of information to voters.

Mrs. N. L. Lindquist, president of the Escanaba League of Women Voters, will welcome the candidates and the public.

To Inform Voters

Mrs. Earl Owen is voters service chairman assisted by Mrs. Walter Kulik, Mrs. Ivan Kobasic and Mrs. Charles East. There will be refreshments after the meeting, with Mrs. Ralph Anderson in charge.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization concerned with the promotion of good government. It is interested in making information about candidates for public office available to the voters, and the Monday night meeting will help Escanaba voters learn more about their candidates and functions of the Council.

For the candidates it presents the opportunity to meet the public and to express their views on matters of public interest.

May Ask Questions

There will be a formal question and answer period conducted by the League, and after all of the candidates have spoken, written questions from the floor will be accepted.

The candidates will be asked three questions by the League: 1—In Escanaba we have a City Manager-Council form of government. Under this plan what is your understanding of the relationship of the City Council to the City Manager?

2—In your opinion what is the most urgent issue facing City government? What would be your recommendation?

3—What do you estimate will be the number of hours per month required to perform the duties of a councilman?

Three Council Seats

Each candidate will have two minutes to answer the first question, four minutes for the second, and one minute for the third.

In the Monday, April 4 election, the voters of Escanaba will elect two councilmen for terms of four years and one for a two-year unexpired term. The terms of Councilmen

Firemen Probe Ruins; 2 Dead

MARINETTE — Firemen continued an investigation in the ruins of a downtown Marinette building today in an effort to determine the cause of a fire in which two women died of smoke inhalation.

Dead are Mrs. Rose Umberham, 75, and her daughter, Marie, 45. Their bodies were found near windows in a front apartment after fire broke out in the DeLeers Building on Main St. Thursday night.

Two other persons, Mrs. Walter Cleary who collapsed on a stairway and her husband, the building while escaping the fire, also hospitalized suffering from smoke inhalation. A third couple, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Miller, who lived in a back apartment, escaped by a rear stairway.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started in the basement. Cause remained undetermined. It was first reported at 10:50 p. m. by Ralph Jensen, owner of a radio shop on a nearby street.

In addition to the second-floor apartments, the building housed the M. M. Sullivan Insurance Agency and Marion's Beauty Shop on the first floor. Firemen said the building's brick walls kept the fire from spreading to the adjoining buildings.

Gunman Kills Six-Year-Old

PORTAGE (AP) — Six-year-old Kelley Jennings died Friday night of wounds suffered in a shooting of which police said her mother was wounded by a gunman who then shot himself in the head.

Kelley and her mother, Mrs. Arlene Jennings, 34, of Portage, were shot Thursday night—Kelley in the face and Mrs. Jennings in the head. Mrs. Jennings, who has seven other children, is listed in serious condition.

William Drollinger, 42, also of Portage, is a police prisoner in a hospital at nearby Kalamazoo. His condition is listed as critical.

Sgt. David Sharp of Portage police said Drollinger walked into the Jennings home, shot the mother as she was about to get into her car for a trip to Kalamazoo, then turned and fired into the house, striking Kelley.

Sharp said Mrs. Beverly Needham-Schou, 26, who lived with Mrs. Jennings, told him she grabbed her own daughter and a 2-year-old Jennings child and locked themselves in a bathroom. Other Jennings children were in school.

The sergeant said Mrs. Needham-Schou told him Drollinger fired several times into the bedroom doors before walking into the garage and shooting himself.

Sgt. Sharp said doctors gave no hope for Drollinger's recovery.

How Irish Exist In Rest Of Year

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Being Irish is a pleasure, not an industry.

Now that St. Patrick's Day has come and gone, I'd like to clear up some misconceptions about the Irish — as far as I have known them.

Some years ago, in a burst of youthful perception, I wrote an explanatory affection a favorable piece about the Irish.

Answering the question "What is it to be Irish?" this was a point I made:

"On St. Patrick's Day, to be Irish is to know more glory, adventure, magic, victory, exultation, gratitude and gladness than any other man can experience in a lifetime."

Opens Campaign:

Griffin Attacks Poverty Methods

IRON MOUNTAIN—"Too often Great Society politicians are the only winners in the administration's War on Poverty," Congressman Robert P. Griffin (R-Traverse City) told a press breakfast today.

Griffin's appearance opened his Upper Peninsula campaign for the U. S. Senate nomination.

"Many poverty programs around the country operate on the 'trickle down' theory," he said. "Big chunks of federal money go for administrative costs to pay the salaries of political favorites. Whatever is left then 'trickles down' to the poor."

Griffin called on the Johnson administration to get behind a Republican sponsored "human investment act" now pending in Congress.

"By granting a tax credit against the federal income tax this bill would stimulate private industries to provide more on the job training for the unemployed who are without skills. To win the poverty war, we must put major emphasis on education and particularly on apprenticeship and job training."

Griffin was joined by Mrs. Elly Peterson, GOP state chairman, and Congressman James Harvey (R-Saginaw) in the kickoff gathering of 11th Congressional District Republicans from 22 northern Michigan counties. Harvey will make the featured address at a dinner at the Dickinson Hotel at 7:30 p. m. (EST) today.

U.S. To Build New Home For Vice President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has voted to provide an official residence for the vice president but Hubert H. Humphrey would be well advised not to start packing for a while.

Sponsors of the bill authorizing construction of the residence said it would be two years at the least before it could be built.

Some said it was highly doubtful the home would be completed in time for Humphrey to occupy it during his present term as vice president. The term ends Jan. 20, 1969.

The Senate sent the bill to President Johnson Friday, completing legislative action on it by voice vote acceptance of House amendments to an original Senate measure.

Signature Assured

Johnson is considered certain to sign it into law, although neither he nor Humphrey gave it any official support during its consideration by Congress.

The bill's sponsors said the administration was active behind the scenes and, in fact, helped smooth the way for the takeover of some Northwest Washington land long owned and highly prized by the Navy.

The 10-acre tract on which the residence will be built is a part of the Naval Observatory grounds on Massachusetts Avenue in the heart of the capital's embassy section. The chief of naval operations lives on the grounds.

The bill authorizes up to $750,000 for construction and furnishing of the vice president's residence. But sponsors said they were hopeful it would not require the full amount.

They said that only $450,000 would be asked for it in the next year, to be spent on architects' plans and some other preliminary expenses.

After War

Some congressional sources said they considered it doubtful that Johnson would ask any construction money in his budget for the year starting July 1, 1967, which he will send to Congress next January.

They said they thought he would not ask funds if the Viet Nam war is still on at that time. Republicans and some Democrats at the Capitol took the position that a vice president's residence should not compete with essential budget items in wartime.

Until now, vice presidents always have provided their own homes.

Humphrey has continued to live in the home in suburban Chevy Chase, Md., which he bought when he first came to Washington as a senator in 1949. Sen. A.S. Mike Monroney, D-Okl., original author of the bill, said he hoped there would be "a public design competition of unusual proportions" for the residence, with the nation's leading architects submitting their ideas.

He noted also that the bill provides for the acceptance of gifts to furnish the home.

In Service

Major Jean Rademacher, who has been stationed for the past two years at Elmendorf Air Force Base, Anchorage, Alaska, has been transferred to Dyess AFB, Abilene, Texas. She is the daughter of the Paul Rademachers, Jaeger Road, Escanaba Rte. 1.

Lakes License Bill To House

LANSING (AP)—Bills to protect new species of sports fish being introduced to Michigan, raise license fees and appropriate funds to step up the fish-planting program have been sent to the House floor.

Three separate fishing measures were reported out of the House Conservation and Recreation Committee with recommendations for passage.

One proposal would give the State Conservation Department increased control over commercial and sports fishing, particularly for such fish as Coho, Chinook and Kokanee salmon.

A second bill would require a license to fish the Great Lakes. The resident fishing license fee would be increased to $3. The fee for those over 65 would be left at 50 cents and wives could still fish on their husbands' license.

The $2 trout stamp would be removed for lake fishermen but would be retained for those fishing on streams.

The first two bills were introduced by Rep. Robert Slingerland, D-Lake Orion.

A third measure, introduced by Rep. William Copeland, D-Wyandotte, would appropriate $1 million from the state general fund to finance the expansion of the fish planting program.

The money would be earmarked to concentrate on anadromous fish—those like the salmon, which can live in both salt and fresh water.

These fish spawn in streams, so their eggs are safe from alewives, which have had a recent population explosion in the Great Lakes.

Pollock Says Citizens Should

Back American Foreign Policy

By JEAN WORTH

The dean of Michigan's political scientists, a man honored by our nation and West Germany and international diplomatic organizations for his services to the understanding of government, prescribed for a citizen's role in foreign policy Friday night.

Professor James K. Pollock of the University of Michigan was the lead-off speaker in the University's "Weekend With the Professors" at the House of Ludington with 60 persons from throughout the Upper Peninsula enrolled.

Our foreign policy, said Professor Pollock, currently has a tremendous focus on Viet Nam, but it is only one phase of the world picture "and not necessarily the most important." Viet Nam, he said, "is only one problem in a galaxy."

How are we doing? he was asked and he said, in effect, quite well.

Backs U. S. Policy

The citizen reaction that he recommends, after a lifetime career of study of government at all levels, is confidence in our government's present position, founded upon understanding of the immense complexity of formulating policy on foreign relations today.

Our present policies in foreign affairs should be pursued with vigor, he said. We should have more confidence in our military and State Department because the nation has never been more ably represented in an emergency.

"We have been pushed onto the world stage without much time to learn our lines, but we have not done badly," said Pollock.

Since the war we have worked in the covert (secret operations) field. We have made some mistakes, but they are not too serious. Some of our inconsistencies have grown out of restraint in use of our great power."

Germany Strongest Ally

In a lively questions period he said:

"We have used the United Nations when it can serve our purposes. We don't give it a job that it cannot handle. We may have gone too far in the Congo, but it seems to be working out. "West Germany is the strongest ally we have in the world today."

"DeGaulle is a highly complicated problem. There must be a thousand people in the State Department thinking about it. Although elected he shows the power of one man in really authoritarian situation."

"It looks as though he's going to go so far as to end our use of French bases. But it looked as though he was going to break up the European Common Market and he backed off."

Q—Can a world community

THE UNIVERSITY of Michigan's "Weekend With the Professors" at the House of Ludington last night and today brought three faculty members to address 60 persons from throughout the Upper Peninsula enrolled for the experiment. From left: Carl Cohen, associate professor of philosophy, who talks today on "Communist Philosophy Yesterday and Today," James K. Pollock, professor of political formulation of American foreign policy; and William P. Malm, who spoke today on Oriental influences in music. (Daily Press Photo) be achieved if we use the United Nations as "our" agency?

"We don't do anything in UN that others don't do. We back our national interest, but we have moved to improve UN when others only vetoed."

New World Situation

Q—Shouldn't our foreign policies be reviewed?

"They are under constant review. Congress is more responsible for our present China policy than the State Department."

Professor Pollock stressed that since World War II, with the emergence of 60 new nations and a basic restructuring of foreign relations to involve many departments of government besides the State Department and the White House in the formulation of foreign policy, there is need for citizen understanding of the great complexities involved.

"I am experienced, but I wouldn't lay down with the assurance of the senators (Fulbright, Morse, etc.) what should be done. It is so vast, so complicated that I should speak with a great deal of caution. We have a crisis every day. The United States has as many employees outside the United States as in Washington. The State Department receives as many classified (secret) messages daily as the Pentagon received at the height of the war."

Foreign Policy Theater

"The U. S. has four regional defense alliances and is actively participating in a fifth. It has alliances with 42 nations, it belongs to 53 international organizations and contributes a third billion dollars a year to them. It participates in 22 international programs, plus 600 international conferences yearly; more than were held in all the years from Yorktown to Pearl Harbor."

"In this setting we construct our foreign policy. Foreign affairs have got to be conducted in a secret and confidential manner that is resented by a democratic citizenry and by Congress. It breeds conflict. The State Department with a tea party image, is often in an embarrassing and difficult position, but we have an exceedingly able foreign service."

Critical of Fulbright

"Not only the President and State Department but Congress—up to its neck—are involved in foreign policy. We have a system of formulating foreign policy that is very complicated and requires a high degree of cooperation, so I plead for a high degree of cooperation."

Pollock, describing the late Senator Arthur Vandenberg as "Michigan's greatest gift to national government" said he had brought men of very diverse convictions to agree on solutions to foreign problems and achieved a bipartisanship not only of assent but representing the best thought of both parties. I think that Fulbright (chairman of the important Senate Foreign Relations Committee as Vandenberg was) shows the difficulty of foreign policy without showing the greatness of Vandenberg," said Pollock. "He leaves the country in a state of very high confusion."

Communist Aim

"Vandenberg said in 1947: 'I never knew the communists to enter a coalition government for any other purpose than to destroy it.'"

Pollock said that while the Senate is structurally involved in foreign affairs because it must ratify treaties, the House is too because it must pass on appropriations to implement foreign policy and that he would favor ending the present requirement of a two-thirds Senate vote for ratification of treaties and make a majority vote of both houses suffice.

U. S. Foreign Code

Pollock subscribed to the U. S. State Department's definition of U. S. policy abroad:

1. To deter or defeat aggression at any level.

2. To bring about closer association of the more industrialized democracies of Western Europe, North America and Asia—specifically Japan—in promoting the prosperity and security of the entire free world.

3. To help the less developed areas of the world carry through their revolutions without sacrificing their independence or their pursuit of democracy.

4. To assist in the gradual emergence of a general world community, based on cooperation and law, through the establishment and development of such organizations as the United Nations, the World Court, World Bank and Monetary Fund and other global and regional institutions.

5. To strive to end the arms race and reduce the risk of war, to narrow the areas of conflict with the communist bloc and to continue to spin the infinity of threads that bind peace together.

Caution Urged To Avoid 'Flu'

Dr. Mary Cretens, director of the Delta-Menominee District Health Dept., said today increased absentee rates have been reported in Delta and Menominee County Schools.

She said most students absent are reporting "flu-like" symptoms and urged parents to take preventative measures to avoid illness such as making such children get additional rest and avoid chilling. She also suggested special cleanliness precautions and a minimum of social gathering.

Cattle Feeder's Return Is Small

EAST LANSING (AP)—No matter how rich you feel when you eat a good steak, the farmer isn't getting rich off that steak, a Michigan State University survey shows.

A check of 30 cattle feeders showed their operations ranged from a $16,041 profit to a $28,176 loss. The average cattleman had $250,000 invested in his operation and earned a 2.7 per cent return on it in 1963, and 4.6 per cent in 1964.

MDHIA Elects

EAST LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Dairy Herd Improvement Association has elected four directors for three-year terms. They are Clayton McCoy of Niles, James Gleason of Three Rivers, Milton Osborn of Appleton and John Tunison of Hadley. Robert Zeeb of Bath is president of the group.

Munising Golf Project Advancing

Shares of stock in 1000 denominations will be sold to finance construction of a new golf course at Munising.

Plans call for purchase of a 310-acre farm from Roger Kempany. The property has 100 acres clear and a building which can be converted to a clubhouse. George Sharkey and Bub Price are co-chairmen for the project of the Munising Men's Golf League. The site is in East Munising on M-94.

May 15 has been set as deadline to raise money for the property purchase. Additional shareholders will be needed for development work.

Bridge Finance Bill Criticized

SAULT STE. MARIE—A Sault Chamber of Commerce committee spokesman said today that the Mackinac Bridge refinancing bill passed by the State Legislature is totally inadequate and "a swindle against the people of the entire state."

The bill provides for refinancing $100,000,000 in bridge bonds when and if the interest rate on state borrowings drops to 3.25 per cent. Proponents say this could reduce one-way auto tolls from $3.75 to $2.35.

"This bill is totally inadequate and is based solely on a nickels and dimes approach," said Tony Andary, chairman of the Chamber's Area Development Committee.

Andary said the entire toll problem at the Mackinac Straits has been grossly understated by the state's lawmakers.

"They keep speaking of a $3.75 toll," he said. "That's ridiculous. It's a $7.50 toll at the very least, because you've got to go back across the Straits to get home."

"And that's just the start of it. If a lower Michigan fisherman wants to tow his boat up here for a weekend fishing trip, he's got to pay $6.25 one way. That's $12.50 round trip. And if his pal wants to bring along a two-axle trailer for camping, that's $8.75 one way, or $17.50 round trip."

"So for many visitors, we aren't talking about $3.75. We're talking from $12 to $17."

U.P. Game Efforts Reviewed

Surveys Topped Biologists' Job

Surveys and studies claimed the major portion of time of biologists in the Michigan Conservation Department's Game Section in the Upper Peninsula last year, but numerous other activities also were handled during the year.

This was stated in the regional biologist's annual report to the Michigan Conservation Commission.

Lumped under surveys and studies were deer yard investigations, pellet surveys, grouse brood counts, waterfowl censuses and checks, hunter surveys during all game seasons, waterfowl trapping and banding, deer tagging, autopsying highway-killed deer.

Major purposes of the surveys and studies was two-fold: (1) To form the basis for recommendations to the commission on seasons and bag limits for game and fur-bearing animals and (2) to form the basis for much of the habitat improvement work which is aimed at increasing the amount of game and fur available for harvest.

In addition the following projects were carried out during 1965 in the Upper Peninsula:

• Wild turkeys, a new game species above the Straits, were released in the Shaggy Lakes area of Menominee County. (Reports later in the year indicated that some of these birds had raised young, and the new colony appeared to be faring well.)

• Ammonium nitrate charges were used for improvement of waterfowl habitat by blasting 26 small potholes in dry marsh areas.

• 14,400 feet of dike was completed by a contractor at the Munuscong project in Chippewa County and tubes were installed for water level control in this large waterfowl habitat improvement project.

• Two D-7 crawler tractors, fitted with KG tree cutter blades, were used to knock down trees on state land to provide additional deer browse and stimulate sprouting for deer food near deer yards. Altogether, 626 acres were treated in this manner. This work also will benefit grouse and hares.

• Hand cutting in and near deer yards was accomplished on 1,491 acres in numerous locations to improve winter deer range and provide tops for browse.

• Six thousand food-producing shrubs were planted to improve grouse habitat and 23 acres of herbaceous food and cover (rye, millet, etc.) were planted for other grouse pasture or small game habitat improvement.

• To maintain openings for all game species, but particularly for sharp-tailed grouse in some locations, 1,475 acres were sprayed by planes with herbicides.

• At sportsmen's request, and with their labor, 1,472 bushels of corn were distributed to provide emergency food for deer last winter. "In spite of these efforts, plus our cutting program for deer, in the neighborhood of 35,000 deer were lost through starvation last spring," the report said.

The Rev. Karl J. Hammar is chairman of the membership committee of the Delta County Historical Society which will hold its annual campaign for members (and $2 each) the week of March 27.

Mr. Hammar is pastor emeritus of Central Methodist Church and he has plenty of time to put a clerical pox on people who don't sign and he says that he'll get Monsignor Martin B. Melican to help him if need be and give this campaign the double whammy.

The Delta County Historical Society, Mr. Hammar points out, is not anemic or foundering and asking for rescue. It is the largest historical society in the Upper Peninsula and doing very well, thank you. It has 115 members and it is embarked this year on its most ambitious program of erection of historical markers to identify Delta's places of historic interest.

It is this very success of the Historical Society that is giving it new interest in broadening its membership and expanding its membership income so that it can do more things. The Society has had excellent leadership from Charles Follo, Clinton and Haldora Dunathan, Frank Bender, Jr., of Soo Hill, A. Theodore Sohlberg of Brampton and Gladstone; George Embs, Atty. William Anderson and the late John J. Mitchell. And it is fortunate at present in the presidency of Robert Schmeling. The Society has honored the late Mrs. Theodore Farrell, the late Dave S. Coon, Mr. Sohlberg and Mrs. George Jensen for their significant contributions.

The picnic program, the annual dinner program and the meeting programs of the Historical Society make an important contribution to the cultural wealth of the community and also to the community's attraction for the cultured.

It is often said that history has small attraction for the pioneers; that they're too busy living the stuff of history to bother with recording it. This isn't exactly on the button, but it is true that people must attain a certain state of culture before history becomes a lively interest with them.

Many people are probably a little uncertain about just what a historical society does—including some of the members. There's just as much uncertainty about what history itself is. The most common definition of the word is that history is a record of man's past. If this definition is accepted, it means that the familiar old expression "history is made every day" isn't true, because then history is made by the historians and not by the people who live the events recorded.

This is the kernel of the Historical Society. It works in a volunteer labor at the fascinating, tantalizing, frustrating work of assembling a history of its own area. County historical societies like Delta's are primarily concerned with the history of their own county and it is always surprising to newcomers how much history there is and how much history there should be to record all the interesting, influential things of the past.

A person needn't be a historian to become a member of the Historical Society, says Mr. Hammar, and in fact he suggests that it may be as well if all of them are not; that there is also room for the dues-paying devotees who enjoy it as a spectator sport.

He'd like to see more young people joining the Society and more newcomers. "We oldsters," he says "like to reminisce about the characters who made early Gladstone and early Escanaba and Flat Rock and Wells, but it's really not a 'Now I'll tell you' club."

"We want to gather occasionally and fraternize and sponsor a program that adds to public information on our home area because that makes it more interesting and satisfying. That's why we have the Historical Society. It has produced our Century Book and done many other good things for the community and we want to keep up its good work."

Demonstration Tool

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The strange effectiveness of student-youth demonstrations in Asia and Latin America was shown again in the army "take-over" in Indonesia.

Indications are the Indonesian army has refused to stand up against Sukarno's pro-Red moves, even though the Communists were blackened nationally for their part in the abortive revolt of October 1965.

When Sukarno recently strengthened the pro-Peking group in his cabinet, the army unhappily went along.

For awhile, the army even helped Sukarno put down student anti-Communist demonstrations.

But the students and other youths kept on demonstrating. This persistence apparently gave indecisive army leaders the determination to move Sukarno out and go on with their Communist purge.

If history elsewhere is a precedent, the Indonesian student-youth groups, having tasted this success, will try their powers again in the future.

Students thus have emerged as a power in Indonesian politics.

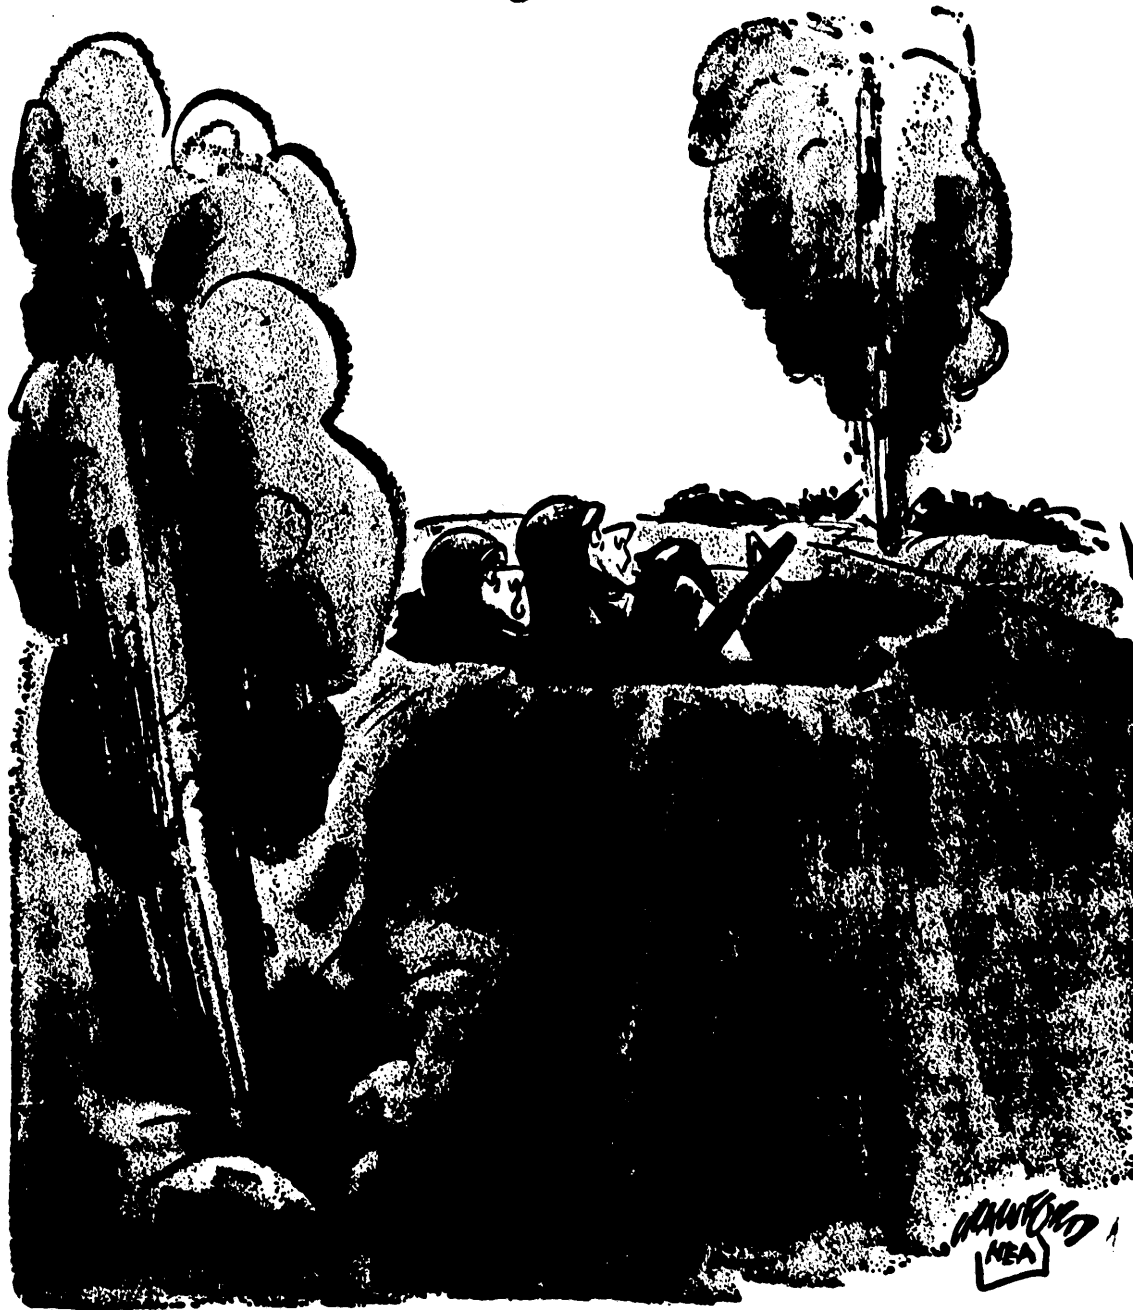

When Sukarno moves for a comeback, as he certainly will unless his ailments keep him quiet, the students again might be the only spark able to unite other groups against him.

This power of student demonstrations is difficult to understand. But it has shown up repeatedly in Latin and Asian lands.

Though this time the technique was used against them, it's more frequently the Communists who have set up student demonstrations for their own ends.

The Reds sparked student demonstrations in the Panama Canal Zone and created an international incident some time back. Student demonstrations played a part in the rise of Castro to power. Chinese Communist have even organized

For The Unusual Outing

Goose Hunt With Crees

TORONTO — With thousands of geese available — blue, snows, Canadas and occasional rare species — the Fort Severn Goose Hunt Camp operated by the Swampy Cree Indians at Fort Severn had its most successful year in 1965 since it was established in 1963.

Fort Severn, at the mouth of the Severn River where it flows turbulently into the tidal waters of Hudson Bay, is the most northerly habitation on Ontario's Hudson Bay coastline.

It was in 1962 that existing regulations were rescinded to permit goose hunting at Fort Severn. At that time there was a serious lack of hunter accommodation at the far northern settlement. Fort Severn is 400 air miles from Sioux Lookout, 992 air miles from Toronto. It is accessible only by air or ship. Most non-resident hunters fly in to the goose hunt camp from Fort Frances, Ont., which lies across the Rainy River from International Falls, Minn. Ontario residents take off from Sioux Lookout and other air bases.

Indians Successful
Camp Manager Jack Stoney and the other Indians themselves are credited with the 1965 success of the goose hunt camp. The performance of Indian guides is attributed to the training program directed by Chief Fred Green of the Shoal Lake Band. Two guides took a special course at the Quetico Guide Training Center. These two guides were placed in charge of all parties going to outpost camps and were highly praised by hunters. Camp staffs were correspondingly efficient.

The season on geese, the main attraction, opened Sept. 15. In 1965, the hunt was completed by Oct. 5. Each hunter was permitted to shoot only five geese per day and could take home only ten birds as his possession limit.

In 1965, 115 hunters participated in the goose hunt and, along with their guides, took a total of 2,225 geese, 59 ducks, 48 ptarmigan and 7 seals. Only two charges were laid against Ontario residents for infractions of the regulations.

The facilities at Fort Severn had been greatly improved. Tents had been replaced with wooden buildings sufficient to handle 30 hunters. The main building had been enlarged to permit separate dining and cooking areas. An extra cook stove had been set up. Hunters usually take in their own food and ammunition.

Outpost Camps
In addition to the main camp, there are two outpost camps, each capable of servicing six hunters complete with beds, mattresses, stoves, dishes, tables, chairs, etc. They are located at Goose Creek and Pipowitwan River. The Goose Creek camp is situated about three miles from the mouth of the creek, while the Pipowitwan camp is about half a mile from the mouth of the river. It requires about one and one-half gallons of gasoline to travel from Fort Severn by outboard and canoe to the shooting grounds and return. Two hunters and two guides are usually assigned to each canoe.

Rates for accommodations are $5 per day, guides, $12 per day (each hunter takes a guide), canoes, $3.50 per day, and motors, $3.50 per day. The Indians charge a fee for landing aircraft that are moored in the tide waters of the bay at Fort Severn. Hunters could have their geese plucked for 25c each, ducks 15c. This was usually done by Indian women and was a real boon to the hunter after a long day on the salt marshes. The feathers are used for making sleeping bags or clothing, etc.

Future Promising
The future looks bright for the Indians at Fort Severn goose camp and soon the camp should be under their unsupervised operation. Department authorities expect. There are approximately 50 men of the Indian group at Fort Severn capable of guiding. The profit of the actual camp last year was not very substantial, but the income to the Indians showed an increase over previous years with an estimated $9,074 revenue. The Indians are able to make extra income, incidental to the hunt, by selling handicrafts such as moccasins. Gratuities are also important, often in the form of food, left over ammunition, gas, clothing and cash gifts presented by grateful hunters at the end of the hunt.

Jack Stoney and his guides plan to acquire some vehicle, such as a "swamp buggy" to transport hunters overland to the outpost camps to overcome the whims of wind and tide.

Soft Speech
The cost of the individual hunter for a safari to Fort Severn may at first seem high, but here thousands upon thousands of geese, blues, snows, Canadas and sometimes the rare Ross and Richardson's goose can be seen in their natural habitat. The guides are without peer in the art of calling geese within gun range. Using no artificial or mechanical device, the Swampy Cree Indian of that area can talk goose language as proficiently as his own. For centuries, he has depended on the wild goose for a part of his livelihood.

Although not understood, the visiting hunter will find the soft, sibilant speech of his Indian guides restful and intriguing in contrast to the cacophony of crowded cities. Also, these guides know intimately the country, the tides and the winds.

Hunting geese in the salt marshes of Hudson Bay should linger long in the memory of any sportsman as a unique experience.

Finding The Ann Landers Way

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

A young Japanese girl lived in our home for almost a year. Toward the end of that experience she was interviewed by a local television station. To the question, "Have you found Americans friendly?" she replied, "Friendly, yes, but you make few friends."

That surprising answer underscored our common need for meaningful brotherhood. So much has been written, so much has been said, and yet so much needs to be done, so normally one would hardly know that it exists.

Laws help. The erection of a legal structure enables our civilization to build an edifice in which all men can find the freedom to work, to live and to give expression to their abilities.

Climate helps. The environment of friendliness is not the total answer but it does give the air and light which permits the plant to grow. It is always shocking to discover that so many who think of themselves as friendly have unwittingly tolerated or fostered an unfriendly atmosphere.

The lack of communication that exists among so many groups becomes the seedbed of violence and the ugliness that engulfs. We are easily shocked at the crude walls built by the Communists in Berlin; we tolerate too easily the walls which exist in our own cities. To overcome the hesitancy and timidity of so many there must be a favorable climate.

Personable initiative helps. The friendship between one human being and another, the person-to-person meetings between citizens and the actual understanding of what it is that makes us tick, aid in sparking the personal initiative.

Beyond all of this, it is necessary to simply ask what we are after. Perhaps we lose this sense of a goal because we lose the sense of wonder from our lives. Cities have a way of bleeding wonder from the soul. It is this sense of wonder which permits the adventure, helping the individual to see over the edge of hopelessness to the possibility of a new relationship.

"The brotherhood is not by blood certainly. But neither are men brothers by speech by saying so. Men are brothers by life lived and are hurt for it."

Archibald MacLeish wrote that and we must live it. The pressures toward brotherhood are too often nudged by fears that pressure in these days should come from the new consideration of love and for the wonder of what might happen if we took the additional step. For we are so friendly, but so few of us are friends.

Ann Landers Hope Screamers Will Learn From Molly

Dear Ann Landers: My husband received a tape recorder from his boss for Christmas. That gift changed my life.

A few weeks ago my husband asked me to listen to a sales speech he had recorded. When I heard my voice in the background I almost died of embarrassment. I was shrieking at one child and then another throughout the entire tape which lasted for 20 minutes. I scolded, screamed and shouted orders, like a fishwife.

This was the first time I had heard a recording of my own voice and it was a horrible experience. But it was probably the best thing that could have happened to me.

I vowed then and there to stop yelling at my children. Ann, in just these few months I have discovered that children respond far better to words spoken in a gentle voice than to orders barked out like a drill sergeant.

I hope other mothers will learn something from my experience. — MODULATED MOLLY

Dear Molly: The experts tell us that the tone of voice is just as important as what is said.

I share Molly's hope that you screamers will learn something from her letter.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a secretary to an executive who is well on his way to success. We have worked closely together for five years. It wasn't planned—it just happened. We fell in love. Mr. X is 14 years older than I am and has teenage children. His wife is a boring, self-centered nit-wit who spends her time in beauty shops, at fashion shows and society benefits. Her husband is her cash register and her social front.

Mr. X and I have dinner together twice a week and we take business trips whenever we can. We cannot consider marriage at this time because his boss would surely ask for his resignation. Mr. X means more to me than anything in the world and I refuse to give him up for a woman who hangs on only for the money and appearances sake.

Is there something I can do to bring about the happy ending I so desperately want?—

IN THE SHADOWS
Dear In: Your story is so routine I'm printing it at the risk of boring my readers.

Get a new job and make a new life or before you know it those little crow's feet around your eyes will look like elephant tracks. Your hair will be gray and you'll be spending more and more time in the beauty shop (like the boss's wife). All chances for marriage will have vanished because during the years when you should have been meeting eligible men you were ducking around corners with a married one.

Confidential to NEED A THIRD PARTY'S OPINION: Sorry but I can't sit down and cry with you. When people take the kind of short cuts YOU took and try to get something for nothing they have no right to complain about the quality.

Are you at war with your parents? Do they have too much to say in your life? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Judy Lynn Eats Hot Dog; Her Condition Fair

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Five-year-old Judy Lynn Funsch ate a hot dog Friday.

Judy is the 38-pound girl who underwent delicate heart surgery 15 days ago at the University of Michigan hospital.

Today, she still is under intensive care and listed officially as in fair condition.

But her mother, Mrs. Clarence Funsch of Flint, Mich., was overjoyed when Judy asked for a hot dog. Mrs. Funsch hurried down to the hospital cafeteria and bought the sandwich. "She gobbled it up," said the mother.

Dietary restrictions are off for the frail little girl and doctors said she can eat anything she asks for.

Last week, she had a hamburger and French fries. But a couple of days later pneumonia developed, Judy lost her appetite, and her condition slipped from good to fair.

Homemaking Tips

Cook all white and all red vegetables in a covered saucepan. Cover green vegetables, too, but lift the cover occasionally to help preserve the green color.

Cheese Pinwheels taste good! To make them, roll out biscuit dough, sprinkle with grated cheese and roll up in jelly-roll fashion. Slice and bake.

Dice bacon slices and partly cook; sprinkle over a pan of cornbread just before it goes into the oven.

ANNOUNCEMENT IS made by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Johnson, 1212 N. 19th St. of the engagement of their daughter, Elaine, to Jerald Mills son of Harold Jackson of Iron River and the late Mrs. Jackson. The bride-elect is presently attending Bay de Noc Community College and her fiancée is employed at Chevrolet Flint Manufacturing in Flint. The wedding will take place at the Calvary Baptist Church on May 28. (Lee's Studio)

Unique Salad Plate Has Appeal

By GAYNOR MADDOX

In the Northwest apple country we discovered a combination salad plate that should delight all luncheon hostesses. Shrimp, apples and artichoke bottoms, pimientos, peas and celery hearts are arranged attractively on lettuce leaves. The dressing is tart French.

All this results in a perfect main dish when the ladies gather for lunch and cards or gossip or to plan a charity bazaar. Relatively low in calories, too.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:
Do you remember trying to give a sleepy little child a teaspoon of cough syrup in the middle of the night?

A quick turn of the head usually spilled syrup on pajamas and bed linens.

I solved this problem by measuring how far up on an eye-dropper a teaspoon of the syrup came . . . and made this operation a one-handed thing.

Just fill eyedropper to where one teaspoon measures, and one quick squirt in the child's mouth does the trick. The child doesn't even have to sit up for the cough syrup.

Eyedroppers are now available in plastic, so no worry about a youngster biting it. Dorothy K. Keller

Dear Heloise:
Our baby's walker was making horrible marks on the walls, and scratches on the furniture and doorways.

My husband cut an old garden hose into strips, split them lengthwise through one side, and clamped them onto the metal bars on the walker that were causing all the trouble.

The rubber not only protects the furniture from scratches, but if baby looks in one direction, walks in another and bumps into something, it acts as a shock absorber so he does not feel the bump so much. Doreen White

I found an excellent use for those little jars that sliced pimientos come in.

When they are empty, I wash and slip them under chair legs. They look neat, and don't make deep depressions in the carpet.

Mrs. C. L. F.

Dear Heloise:
I have found a use for your wonderful nylon net in the bathroom—a hammock for water toys.

I recently purchased one-half yard, in a matching color, for our bathroom; gathered it on each end, and attached it to the two bathroom towel hooks in sling-fashion above the bathtub.

It is a marvelous help—allows the toys to drain, doesn't mildew, holds more toys, and is convenient for the children to reach.

We love it, and it's pretty, too! Special love to my friend, Heloise.

Mrs. Dan Boltz

Dear Heloise:
This is the way I remove stamps from an envelope: I lay the envelope down on the kitchen counter, stamp down.

Then I put a wet paper towel or dishcloth on the envelope, let it stay for a while, then remove it, and the stamp comes off beautifully.

Dick Schomer of Menominee was eliminated in the quarterfinals of the national Golden Gloves tournament in Kansas City, losing a close decision to John North of Cincinnati. Schomer, 118 pound Wisconsin champion, drew a bye and won one fight before being sidetracked by North.

Plans of the Newberry Booster Club to establish lights at the high school football field have been approved by the board of education. John Shimmens and Keith Sleeper outlined the club's plans for lights which they hope to have installed by the time the season gets underway next fall. Other schools in the Great Lakes Conference which have lighted football fields include Saint Ignace, Marquette, Manistique, Negaunee and Marquette. Munising and Gladstone have unlighted gridirons.

Roy Kramer, one of the speakers at the third annual Escanaba Coaches Clinic to be held here April 1-2, compiled a fabulous prep football coaching record before becoming freshman grid coach at Central Michigan University last year. In five years at East Lansing High School, Kramer's teams won 32 of 37 games against tough Class A competition. In nine years of high school coaching his teams ran up a 58-14 record.

Ray Neveau, the former star athlete at Niagara High School, captured his second Wisconsin state handball championship recently, beating Milwaukee's Simle Fein in the finals. He also won the Wisconsin YMCA state title and will advance to the USHA nationals at Salt Lake City in April.

Latest Upper Peninsula kegler to spill a national honor count was Elmer Nyland of Menominee who barely missed a perfect game enroute. He crashed a 707 series with a 286 highlight.

Two former Copper Country prep stars played vital roles in the success of the Superior State basketball team this season. Curt Lahti of Houghton, a 6 foot 3 inch forward, scored 223 points and hauled in 247 rebounds for the Yellowjackets. Chuck Kilgibell, 6 foot guard from Hancock joined the team in the second semester and served as a front line reserve through the late stages of the campaign in which Superior won nine of eleven starts.

The Great Lakes Conference spring meeting of coaches and administrators, snowed out last Thursday has been rescheduled for Tuesday afternoon at Munising. Coaches will make their all-conference selections and Ishpeming will be presented with its conference basketball championship trophy. Art Allen of Newberry is commissioner of the conference and will conduct the meeting.

Saari Sparkles As Southern Cal Leads Swimmers

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Southern California led today in a bid for its fourth straight NCAA swimming title after sparkling performances Friday night by free styler Roy Saari.

The Trojan star's repeat victory in the 200-yard freestyle and magnificent anchor leg—45.2 seconds—in the 400-yard freestyle relay helped raise Southern Cal's team point total to 215. Runner-up Indiana has 182 and Michigan is third with 161 after 11 of the 18 events in the meet that ends tonight.

Michigan State's Gary Dillel smashed the American 100-yard backstroke record with a mark of 52.39 seconds, cracking the old record of 52.5 and his 1965 NCAA record of 52.6. Dillel claimed the first record in the competition at the Air Force pool, 7,000 feet above sea level.

Saari came from behind for his 200-freestyle and relay victories. In the 200 he went in front at the halfway mark after Bill Utley of Indiana set the early pace. Starting the final leg of the relay in third place almost two lengths back, he churned to the finish a bare half-hundredth of a second ahead of Michigan's Bill Groat.

Other team leaders, among the 58 competing schools, are Michigan State 99, Southern Methodist 92, UCLA 64, Stanford 59, North Carolina State 48, O

State 45 and Texas 29. Michigan's Paul Scheerer captured the 100-yard breaststroke with a clocking of 1:00.43. In the consolation section of that event, MSU's Lee Driver was fourth in 1:01.88.

In the 100-yard backstroke consolation event, second place went to Ruse Kinyery of Michigan (.54.80) and fourth place to teammate Rees Orland (.54.96). Michigan's Carl Robie won the 200-yard butterfly competition with a 1:53.80 clocking.

In the 200-yard freestyle consolation event, Michigan's Bill Parley was second in 1:46.28; MSU's James MacMillan was third at 1:46.88; and Robert Hoag of Michigan took fourth at 1:47.40.

Michigan's team placed second and MSU's third in the 400-yard freestyle relay event. Pete Williams of MSU captured fourth place in the 400-yard individual medley, and John Vry of Michigan took fourth in the consolation race in that event.

Brewer Retains Lead In Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Being a front runner is becoming familiar to Gay Brewer Jr., and he's happy to take a three-stroke lead into today's third round of the $82,000 Greater Jacksonville Open.

Brewer's six-under-par 35-31-66 Friday after an opening 67 put him 11 under par at 133. Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., and veterans Sam Snead of Boca Raton, Fla., and Tommy Bolt of Sarasota, Fla., were at 136. No one else was closer than 139.

The situation shaped up like a repeat of the Pensacola Open three weeks ago when Brewer led at 36 holes with 134 and went on to win by three strokes.

Even though he has been playing consistently well for six months, during which he has won four tournaments, Brewer isn't counting the $13,500 first prize in his pocket yet.

One challenger Brewer didn't have to face in the last two rounds at Pensacola is Sanders. At Pensacola, Sanders didn't sign his scorecard after rounds of 63-67-130 and was disqualified.

Sanders tied the course record Friday with 33-32-65 after getting a vitamin shot in the morning. He said he planned another one before the third round.

Snead, who doesn't let his senior status at age 53 keep him from beating youngsters not yet born when he started the tour, put together a 66 from a bag of brilliant recovery iron shots and 29 putts.

He figured it was the fewest putts he had in a competitive round the past couple years.

Bolt, regaining some of the explosive temperament he showed in an opening 66, toured the second round in 70 and feuded with a couple of sports writers over a printed story quoting him as criticizing another golfer.

U.S. Open champ Gary Player, registered out of Aracaw, Bahamas, and Dave Hill of Evergreen, Colo., were at 139. The other 77 survivors after the field was trimmed were bunched between 140 and 147.

Appears Like Tigers Trying To Get Poor Tilts Out Of System

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — If it were possible for a team to get its bad games out of the way in spring training, you could think that's what the Tigers were trying to do Friday.

They committed three errors and lacked pitching strength in dropping a 7-5 decision to the Cincinnati Reds.

"It's a little hard to find anything encouraging in a game like this one — it sure wasn't the pitching," Manager Charlie Dressen said.

"On second thought, the bright spot would have to be our catcher Orlando McFarlane," he added.

McFarlane lifted the Tigers into a 3-3 tie with a three-run homer in the fourth inning and also contributed a single in their puny, seven-hit attack.

"If he keeps playing the way he has, that waiver price ($25,000) is going to look awfully cheap," Dressen said.

The Tigers obtained McFarlane from Columbus, a Pittsburgh farm team.

The Reds got single runs in each of the first four innings off starter Joe Sparrma. A two-base error by Jim Northrup in the second paved the way for the tally in that inning.

Deron Johnson's two-out single in the fourth inning put the Reds ahead to stay. They added two runs in the seventh when Leo Cardenas homered off Bill Graham.

Bill Freehan's pinch double in the eighth inning drove home Detroit's final two runs after the Reds had picked up the eventual winning walk on a single, an intentional error and another single by Mel Queen off John Hiller.

"This is the first time this year we have played with a high sky (no clouds)," Dressen said. "I think that was the reason for Northrup's error, and the double (Vada) Pinson hit to right in the sixth. I don't think

Three Strikes By Mantle Cheer New York Yankees

Associated Press Sports Writer
For most batters, three strikes mean out. But for Mickey Mantle, three strikes mean he's back in.

Exactly two months after his right shoulder was operated on, Mantle stepped to the plate as a pinch hitter Friday in the New York Yankees' exhibition game against Philadelphia.

The ailment-plagued star struck out, but the Yankees, who won the game 7-6, were enthused. It was Mantle's first appearance in a game this spring, and it came far ahead of the schedule Mantle thought he would have to follow.

Manager Johnny Keane first got the idea for using Mantle while watching him hit the ball hard during batting practice.

The 34-year-old veteran got his chance in the ninth inning with the game tied 6-6, one man on and one out.

Camilo Pascual, Dwight Siebler and Pete Cimino — combined for a one-hitter as the Twins mauled Boston 9-4. Tony Conigliaro's fourth-inning double off Pascual was the only hit for the Red Sox, who lost their seventh straight.

Fred Valentine and Frank Howard drove in five runs with third-inning homers as Washington defeated Pittsburgh 7-4, and Cincinnati downed Detroit 7-5 with Leo Cardenas knocking in three runs, including two with a homer.

Cap Peterson's three-run homer climaxed a six-run, eighth-inning uprising that carried San Francisco past Cleveland 10-8. Bobby Knoop capped three hits in California's 6-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

The Los Angeles Dodgers took advantage of five Baltimore errors and seven bases on balls for an 8-4 victory over the Orioles in a night game at Miami.

Dates Shifted For Track Meet

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The United States Track and Field Federation announced Friday its national outdoor championships are being shifted to Indiana State University at Terre Haute and will be held June 10-11.

Open, as well as scholastic and collegiate, athletes will be permitted to compete for the first time.

The dates were shifted, said Charles D. (Chick) Werner, federation executive director, to avoid conflict with the Amateur Athletic Union meet scheduled in New York for June 24-25.

Floyd Patterson has been floored a total of 16 times in world championship fights.

Spartans Score Second Victory

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A two-run sixth inning, sparked by John Walters' third straight single, lifted Michigan State to a 4-3 baseball victory Friday over New York University.

The eight-inning victory gave the Spartans a 2-1 record in spring exhibitions. They meet NYU in Miami again Saturday and then move to Tallahassee for a Monday double-header against Wake Forest and Florida State.

Steve Plisar also contributed a single and a stolen base to the sixth inning MSU uprising, helped along by a walk and a left fielder's error.

John Biedenbach tripled home Tom Binkowski, who had walked one of four consecutive times, for MSU's fifth inning run.

Muskegon Whips Toledo Sextet

MUSKEGON (AP) — The champion Muskegon Mohawks trampled last-place Toledo 12-3 Friday night in an International Hockey League game.

Clem Labrecque of Muskegon scored three goals and Wayne Freitag and Gary Schall added two each for the Mohawks. Schall's were his 60th and 70th and tied him with Fort Wayne's Merv Dubchak for the league leadership.

Chick Chalmers got two of Toledo's goals.

PAST AND FUTURE — California heavyweight Jerry Quarry asks former champion Jack Dempsey if his "knuckle sandwich" looks anything like the one Dempsey used to serve in the ring. Quarry, 20, is one of the heavyweight division's brightest new prospects.

Clay Figures To Floor Foe

TORONTO (AP) — Cassius Clay isn't picking the round for a change but he is aiming to be the first to drop George Chuvalo, the iron-jawed Canadian champion, in their 15-round title fight Tuesday night.

"I look on Chuvalo as a measuring stick," said the undefeated 24-year-old heavyweight king (World Boxing Association territory not included) as he headed into his final sparring session today.

"Ernie Terrell couldn't put him down and needed 15 rounds to win," said Clay.

Terrell, of Chicago, won WBA recognition as world champion after the WBA stripped Clay of the crown for signing a return bout contract with Sonny Liston.

Clay and Terrell were set to meet here to settle the championship dispute but Terrell withdrew when the new contract terms reduced his guarantee.

Although this is Chuvalo's home town, the Ontario Boxing Commission, adhering to the WBA line, is not recognizing the fight as a title scrap.

The promoters then billed it as "The Battle of Champions." Chuvalo, ranked 10th by the WBA and ninth by Ring Magazine, is not bothered by the non-title status here.

"If I beat Clay — and I'm confident I can do it — I'll be recognized as champion anyway," he said.

Although he has been whipped 11 times, the stocky, 6-foot-1, 208-pounder never has been floored or stopped by an opponent. He is a durable inauler with an astonishing ability to absorb punches and has strong skin that rarely cuts.

Despite the 27 knockouts to his credit on his 34-11-2 won-lost-record, Chuvalo is not considered a strong puncher. He likes to wear down his opponents with body bashing.

"That softens 'em up," said George.

His big problem is to get within Clay's long reach so he can hang away. The champion has fast feet and faster hands and Chuvalo's style is just perfect for him.

"I can get to him," said Chuvalo. The odds still are 7-1 on Clay.

Paul Miller Gets Mention On AP Squad

Paul Miller 6 foot 1 inch junior forward at Escanaba, was named to the honorable mention list in the Michigan Class A All-State selections announced this week by the Associated Press.

Miller, who was also named to the Great Northern all-conference team by coaches this week, was the only Upper Peninsula player honored by the AP.

Miller led the Eskymos in scoring with 347 points and a 19.3 average while hauling in 136 rebounds.

Teachers Ask Salary Meeting

A new salary schedule announced by the Gladstone Board of Education for school teachers has not been accepted as yet by the teacher's professional negotiations committee. Lilian Anderson, school librarian and representative to the Michigan Education Association assembly, said the schedule was announced without knowledge of the teachers. She said the teacher's professional negotiations committee has never met in combined session with the board.

Under a new Michigan law, public employees have been given the right to negotiate contracts with their employers. The Michigan Education Association has been recognized as bargaining agent for Gladstone teachers.

Talking Tooth Research Aid

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Development of a talking tooth which reports chemical changes in saliva was reported Friday by the University of Michigan. The tooth, equipped with a self-contained battery and miniature radio transmitter, is expected to furnish information never before obtained. It was built by Dr. Major Ash and project engineer Ian Scott of the university's school of dentistry. A year ago, they developed an artificial tooth with six miniature radio transmitters to measure and broadcast the play of forces on the surface of a molar during chewing.

Commission Plans Hearing Monday

The Gladstone City Commission will hold a public hearing Monday on plans to install curbing and blacktop on sections of Dakota Ave. and 7th St. The hearing will be part of the regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. at the City Hall.

Blacktop and curbing projects are planned on Dakota Ave. from 7th to 8th St. and 7th St. from Dakota Ave. to the alley between Dakota and Michigan Ave.

1. Card of Thanks

Brunette

We wish to express our sincere thanks to neighbors, friends and relatives for the assistance and sympathy shown us at the time of our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved father and grandfather, Walter J. Brunette. We are especially grateful to all who sent spiritual and floral bouquets, cards and other gifts. Mr. Matt LaViolette, Mr. and Mrs. John Skradski, the student choir, the pallbearers and all others who by word or deed assisted us at this time. The memory of these acts always will remain with us.

Signed:
Mr. & Mrs. George Rivest
and Family

2. In Memoriam

LaLonde

In loving memory of Emma LaLonde, who passed away eight years ago today:

"The hard to break the tender cord
When love has bound the heart,
The hard, so hard to speak the words,
'We must forever part.'
Dearest loved one, we must lay thee
In the peaceful grave's embrace
But thy memory will be cherished
Till we see thy heavenly face."

Sadly missed by
Walter LaLonde and children

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

My dear wife died a year ago. Now there's just myself and my little daughter Janice. Don't feel sorry for us, though, because we're managing pretty well.

Last year when the blow came, I admit I went to pieces. We'd only lived in the neighborhood for a few weeks, and it's hard to say what would have happened if it hadn't been for our church. Suddenly I was surrounded by friends. The minister came at once with convincing words of comfort that helped me to face life again. His wife alerted other members and they brought meals, laundered clothing, took care of Janice, and ultimately found the wonderful elderly housekeeper we have now.

I had never given much thought to the meaning of Christian fellowship. Today I know that miracles of kindness can result when people unite in following the "perfect pattern" of self-sacrifice and unquestioning love.
